We operate at the intersection of hunger relief and environmental protection, tackling food loss and waste through food redistribution, research, awareness, and education, continually innovating and collaborating to ensure a more sustainable planet. We work with thousands of food businesses from across the supply chain utilizing logistics and technology to reduce the amount of edible food going to waste, thereby diverting unnecessary greenhouse gases from entering the environment. Our inclusive model ensures this healthy surplus food is redirected to thousands of charities and non-profits across the country, providing millions of Canadians experiencing food insecurity access to the nourishment they need.

The water we use for irrigation comes from run-off out of the mountains. We use only the water that we need from this run-off and direct it through man-made canals, many of which are over a half-century old.

Most hospitality businesses are maintaining dozens of different systems and, for the most part, none of them talk to one another. We believe that the effort it takes to maintain all of these disparate systems is one of the primary causes of hundreds of hours of unnecessary operational heavy-lifting. Tango is founded on the belief that any hospitality business should have a single system that works across every department within the company. With Tango you can spend time delighting guests, not managing systems.
